The original Willow Tea Rooms was owned by Catherine Cranston (known as Kate). Cranston was a firm advocate for the temperance movement and the daughter of a Glasgow tea merchant. She devised the idea for a series of art tea rooms which would hold a collective of beautifully decorated spaces that people might be able to enter and enjoy without relying on the inebriating effects of alcohol for entertainment. Kate and her brother Stuart (also a tea merchant) are credited as creating the original afternoon tea concept where customers could sample teas baked items.

Our afternoon tea is based on Kate's original premise of home baked items. We offer a traditional or savoury afternoon tea stand that is filled with your choice of sweet or savoury baking, all made daily in our in-house bakery! Our afternoon tea is available throughout the day and no booking is required (although we always recommend this).

We offer afternoon tea gift vouchers that can be bought through our website or within our gift shop.
